

Plug and play is a very good idea. The more simple you can make it for everyone seems to me to be what technologies should be all about.